WANTS A MILLIONAIRE

Colorado Damsel Would Take South Carolina Swain to Spouse.

Any bald headed, sentimental milspend his money and play sweet lullabies to him, has only to apply to the office of the governor of South Carolina to get the address of a western matrimony, providing there is plenty of coin in the offing writes the Columbia correspondent to the News and Cour-

> While there has been no advertisement to the effect that Governor Cooper is heading a matrimonial bureau, yet a Colorado girl evidently thinks that he can put her in touch with some South Carolina swain who wants to be loved. The governor's office received a letter today postmarked Pueblo, Colo., in which a request is made to find a pining maiden of one of the best families of Colorado," a helpmeet in the turbulent battle of life.

> The maid is easily satisfied; all she wants is a "hubby" she can love with all her heart and who will love herand can show one million dollars. In her set of specifications she says that any candidate that applies should be fifty years of age. This is interpreted as a gentle hint that she does not want him to live too long; she prefers to spend the million as a "merry

> Governor Cooper is in New Orleans attending the World Cotton Conference and his secretary James C. Derieux, is handling the matrimonial end of the executive office. Mr. Derieux, however, has not had much experience along matrimonial lines, as he has so far failed to annex to himself a wife. In his desperation he called the capital newspaper men into consultation but they could not apply; the majority of them married and all were penniless. However, they suggested a handsome scribe of the Piedmont section, whom they thought might be interested. He is unmarried, but falls under the age limit and he has not yet, so far as is known, amassed a million "scads."

Mr. Derieux requests the bachelors of the state, who will fall over each $40.00 per Acre. Property of J. H. the western peach, to apply to him for the name of the fair one, and not to, send photographs, autobiographical sketches and financial statements to the governor's office. 'He has no appropriation for the hiring of an extra stenographer, and, in his opinion, the Colorado maid would prefer to receive all documentary evidence direct.
